

O.K. LET'S SEE IF WE CAN SPOT BOB KICE:

ON THE RIGHT IS A PHOTO OF ROBERT EDWARD KICE from the gallery of Jonestown photos. There is no full-body photo available but Kice was of at least average height -- not a giant, but certainly not short, perhaps 5'8" or 5' 9". Other survivors agree.

He and Tom Kice (cousin or uncle, I don't recall which) were NRA members. This was way off the norm for Temple members. They apparently hung out together in Jonestown as well. Everyone who believed that Bob Kice was one of the assassins believed the same of Tom.

We don't have a photo of Tom Kice, although I remember what he looked like. I once lived on Tomki (= Tom Kice) Road in Redwood Valley, California. Tom and his wife Chris lived in the back so I saw him often. Tom was maybe 5'11". He was described as being 6'1" in the FBI eyewitness report. Any height in that range disqualifies him from the trio of lead shooters, as we will explain.

BOB KICE
(EXCEPTIONALLY ERECT POSTURE)

There was also a key characteristic shared by both Kices: erect posture. I remember Tom as standing ram-rod straight. The photo of Bob Kice is more pronounced: his chest was unnaturally puffed out, something like George W. Bush. So if you were to see a man running for several seconds with a marked curve in the spine and shoulders hunching over, it wasn't either Kice, especially Bob.

As we will see, a humongous height discrepancy categorically ruled out shooters from Jonestown at all. But let's keep focused on Bob Kice. Everyone at Jonestown was led to believe that that their own had killed the Congressman because "Bob Kice confessed." In the panic of a tiny private briefing, fanatic to fanatic, no questions, no probing, no doubt.
