

the
~~From the time I entered into Santa Rosa Junior College dormitories~~ which was also my first few months at even being in Peoples Temple, I came under ~~the viciousness of the so-called leadership of the dormitories,~~ Jim Cobb, Terri Cobb, Wayne Pietila, and Terri Cobbs proteges (as well as Jim Cobbs) Micki Myself, along with several others, were new in Peoples Temple. ~~and~~ Touch ~~faithful to the leadership.~~ We were kept up night after night by these people for counselling. We were called "honkies or uncle tom s" all night because Terri Cobb got one of the girls so incited in revolutionary fervor that she play-acted we were not revolutionary. If we defended ourselves when being ~~called~~ "confronted", out a scene where she was demonstrating as they called it, we would have to stand ~~there~~ up in the middle of the room for what she would do to me if I betrayed and tom. When different ones of us started reacting to this terrorism and fascist pretended to dictatorship, we were told that Jim Jones knew everything that went on, which was old a gun to absolutely untrue we found out later. They threw Jim Jones' name around whenever my head and they pulled the trigger, wanted to throw in some inhumane rule. We were told that we would get into a lot of trouble if we went to Jim about this because it showed that we didn't trust him (Jim). I would have left if I hadn't gone to church services during the weekends and midweek because I would see that Jim Jones was a sensitive compassionate man who preached about egalitarian living, and concern for others was the essence of living. This was not the same Jim Jones that Jim Cobb and Terri Cobb, and Wayne Pietala showed me, and I would return ~~to~~ to the dormitories confused and terrified at what new mental torture we would be put through in our all night meetings.

The all night meetings usually centered around someone being confronted about something as insidious as ~~as~~ one of the more studious persons not helping out one of the leadership on a test by cheating. ~~They told me that~~ ~~that they were stealing from the system wasn't bad.~~ ~~the students should be punished for cheating.~~

Micki Touchette was a nothing at the dorms until she started ~~screwing~~ ^{who was married to Wayne Pietila} an affair with Terri Cobb. Terri Cobb always liked to break in new females at the dorms. Terri ^{Cobb and} Mickey Touchette's had their affair for months and even continued it after Mickey Touchette started an affair with Jim Cobb who was by this time married to Sharon. Jim Cobb had no more than gotten married than he started screwing with Mickey Touchette and ~~tried~~ ^{tried} to get me into his pants too.
Jim Cobb took me ~~up~~ to a ~~park~~ ^{park} on our way home from school just to look at the ducks. This occurred after Sharon and him had just gotten married. He pulled me over and started kissing me and trying to feel my breasts. I protested that this wasn't what I wanted, but he insisted that this was how "comrades" got to know each other. Jim Cobb always picked females with blonde hair and blue eyes and called everyone else a racist if they didn't bend to his will.

Guerilla training became a major emphasis on the college students. We were being trained for the revolution that we were going to start. ^{Such as} Wayne Pietala would dress up like Che Guevarra and shout revolutionary slogans ~~that~~ "traitors never live", "we'll kill anyone who betrays the revolution", "the end justifies the means". We didn't even know what they were talking about, but if we didn't want an all night standing in the middle of the floor being screamed at, we had to go along with it. We were drilled in leadership skills in guerilla warfare, night runs and marches were taken in empty fields to test our ability ~~to~~ in doing invasion maneuvers. On one hike that we took, we were being trained in guerilla fighting and also in abilities to take on leadership responsibilities. Jim Cobb was in charge and beat a girl ~~with~~ with a stick because she became too exhausted to keep up with the whole group.

FF-2-88A

C. Our meetings were not without violence, being inflicted on dared to someone who disagreed with the way the fascist regime was ruling the dorms. ^{A GIRL} Jeanette Kerns was slapped up against the wall by someone who was caught up in the emotion of ~~proving that she was not a coward~~ proving that she was not a coward, and that she supported the dormitory leaders.

Racial animosity was encouraged as a means of controlling the people down there. The light complected people were never allowed to sit on the chairs or couches if there was even one person who was Black who did not have a seat. Light complected persons were never allowed to sit in the front seat of a car unless there was no choice. Black Ink complected people were called things Tom or Aunt Jones and were told to call light complected people monkeys and keep animosity stirred up.

FF-2-88B

like - Jim C. beat Lillie J. Can with a stick for not keeping up on a hike to train us in military; guerrilla warfare Lillie J. Can - withdrawn, screamed at for not talking

- FF-2-88C
- pretending to put gun to my head
 - Jim C. tried to ~~come out~~ ^{come out} ~~me~~ ^{me} after he was married to Sharon
 - Jim C. and group said Jim and counsel knew about what went on in our meetings and ~~he~~ ^{Jim} did not and was furious when he found out
 - guerrilla training in the night in an open field next to S.R. dorms
 - Wayne's ~~the~~ hero was Che Guevara. He tried to act and look like him.
 - kept us up all night several nights in a row for not being sensitive
 - Terri was always yelling at some one. She was crazy. All she liked a girl she'd try to put the make on her, if she didn't